

I am a veteran with Bachelor's degree in welding engineering. I'm also a proud person, and never expected to seek help. But, I swallowed my pride and connected with WARM in March of 2020, when I was managing a tough period in my life. At WARM, I found a caring and respectful atmosphere, with supportive services. The Way2Work program provided a fresh take on my stressful job journey. Their advice and encouragement were just what I needed to improve my situation and allow me to take back my life. So, with some hard work, I obtained several solid opportunities that allowed me to leverage my true skills. I landed two jobs, and today serve as a manufacturing engineer. Thank you WARM. – Chris R.
