

I was facing financial and healthcare coverage concerns after losing my job when my employer downsized the department. With a graduating son about to enter college and a husband on disability retirement, my anxiety level was through the roof.

Fortunately, a friend mentioned WARM's Way2Work program to me. The services and support I received from the program were instrumental in helping me secure new employment. I received excellent advice on resume preparation, searching for jobs, interviewing, and targeting applications. All of this was critical as I navigated a new career and rebuilt my confidence.

I worked hard to build new skills and re-present myself. I experienced highs and lows. But with the added guidance and encouragement, I prevailed in securing gainful administrative employment at a local, higher-Ed institution. Now my self-worth and well-being indicators are stronger than ever. Thank you WARM.
